Qamar & the sweet treat

On a hot summer day, Qamar and Rami stood before an ice cream kiosk in their neighborhood waiting for their turn excitedly.

Qamar was wondering which flavor to pick, while Rami wanted blueberry ice-cream.

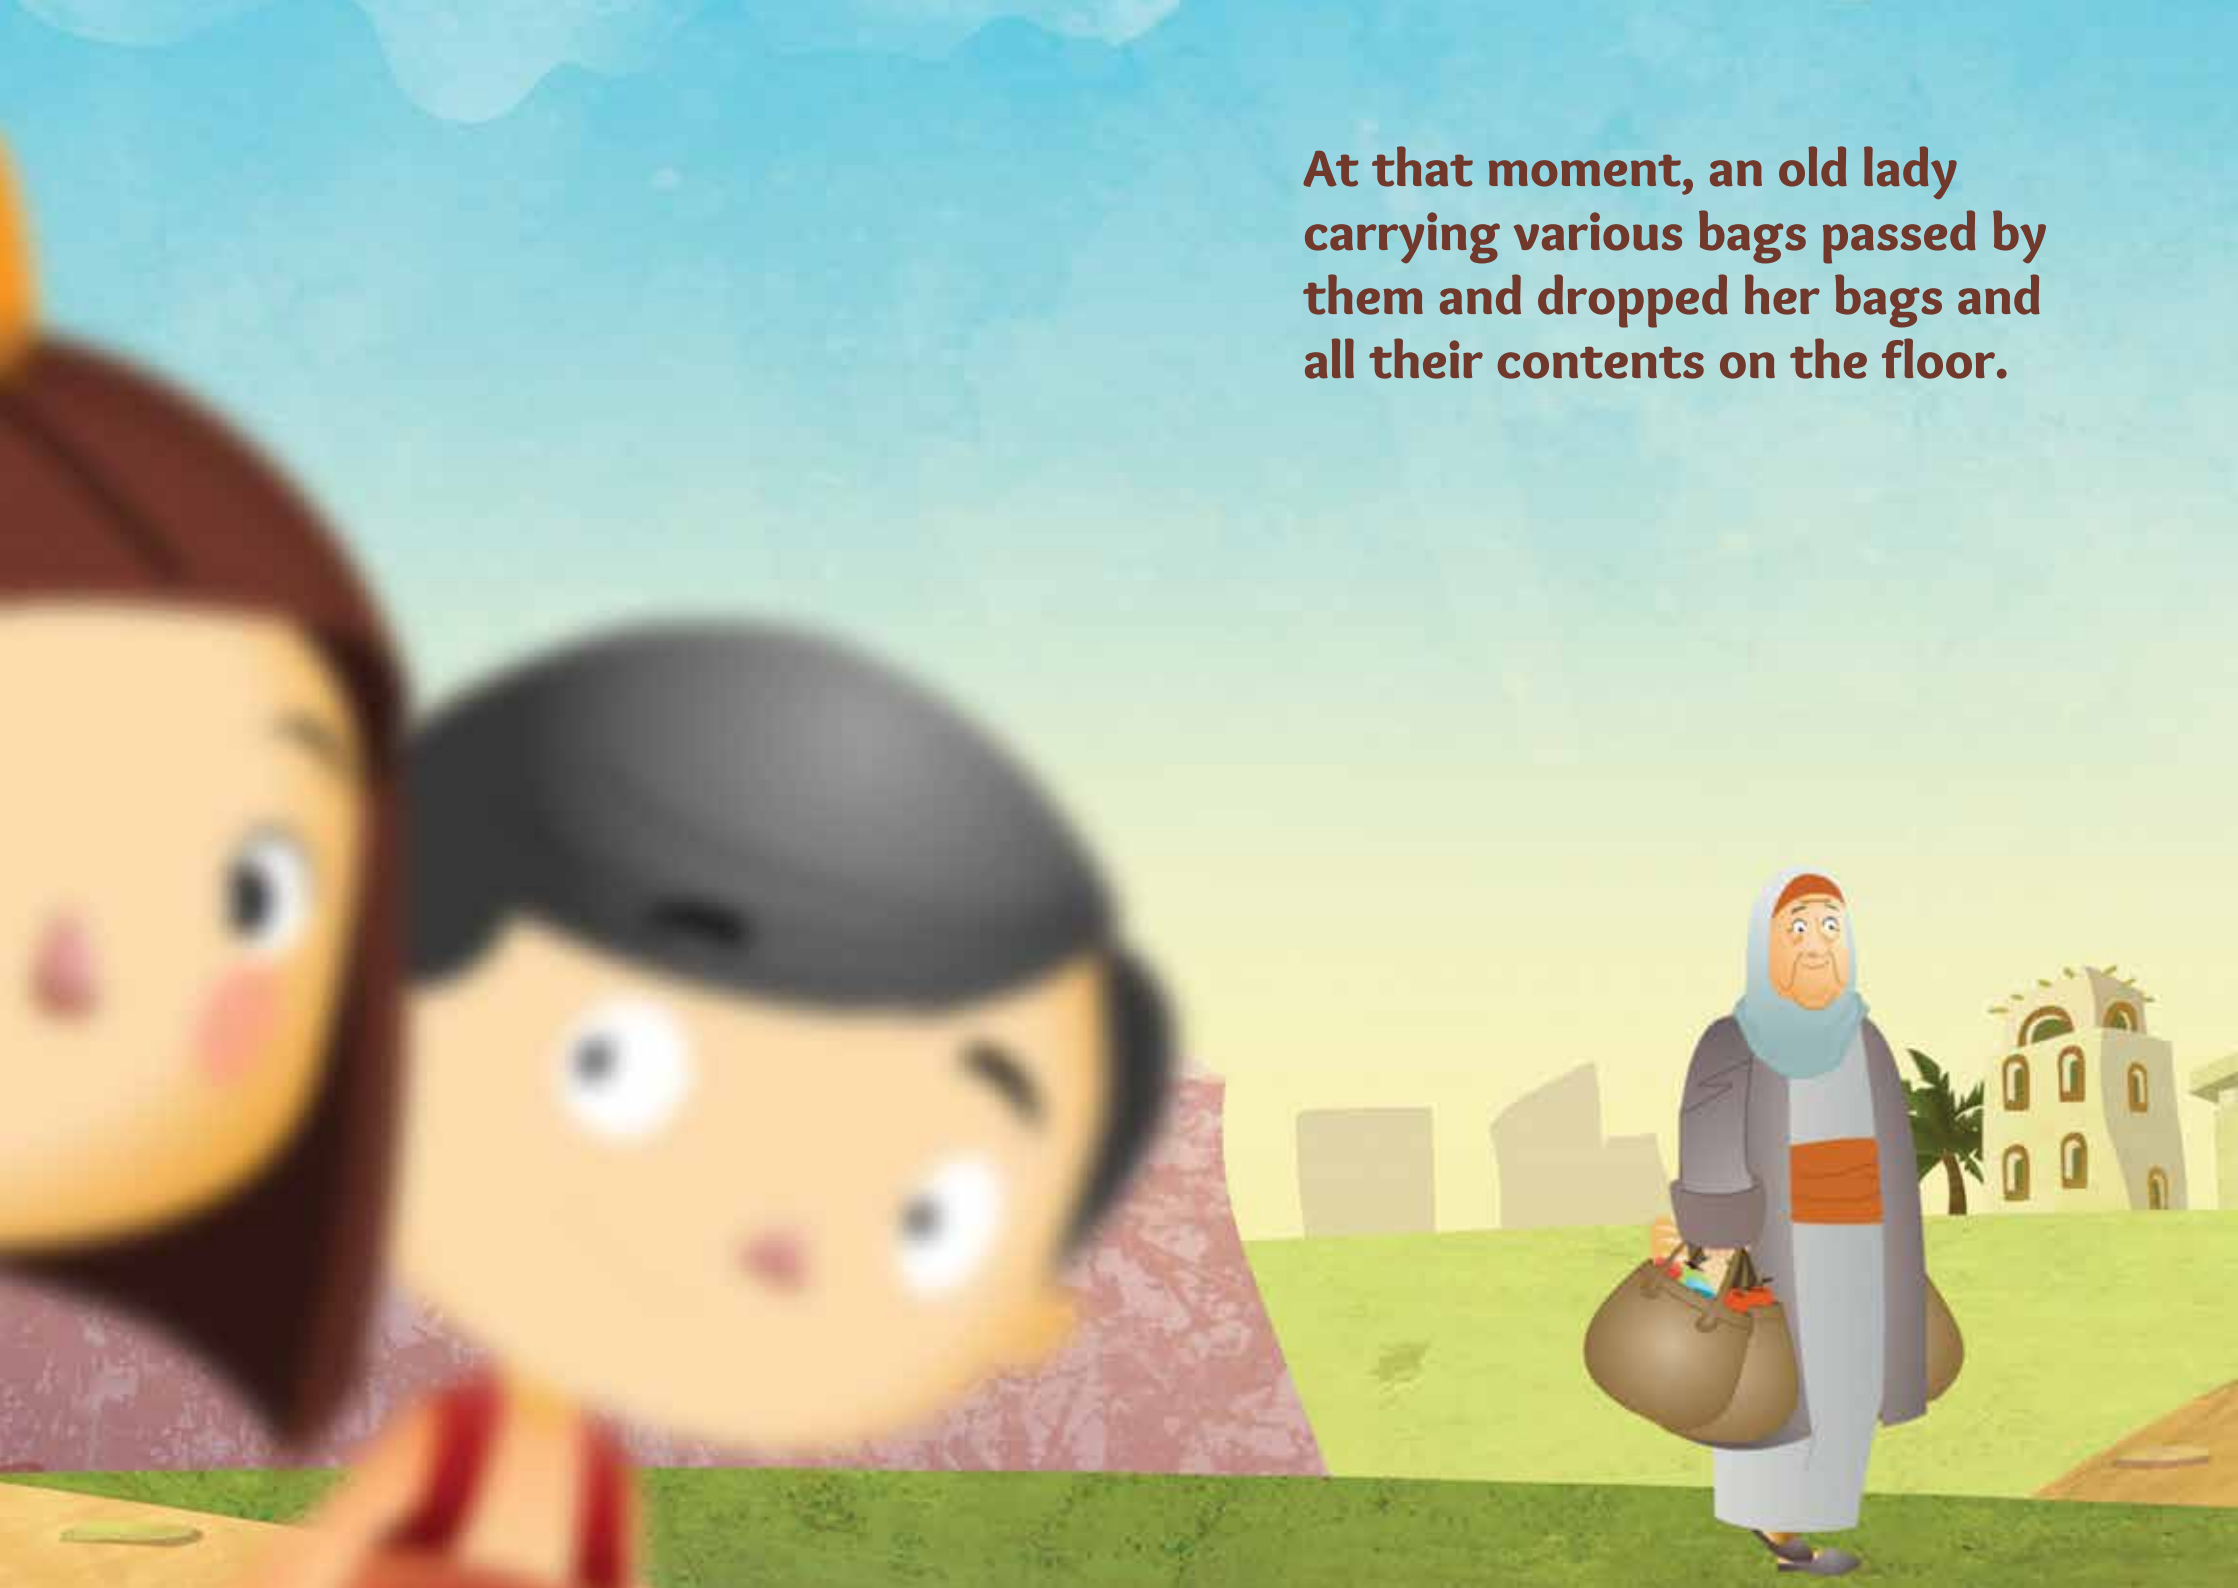

The line was very long as all the kids wanted ice-cream in this heat.

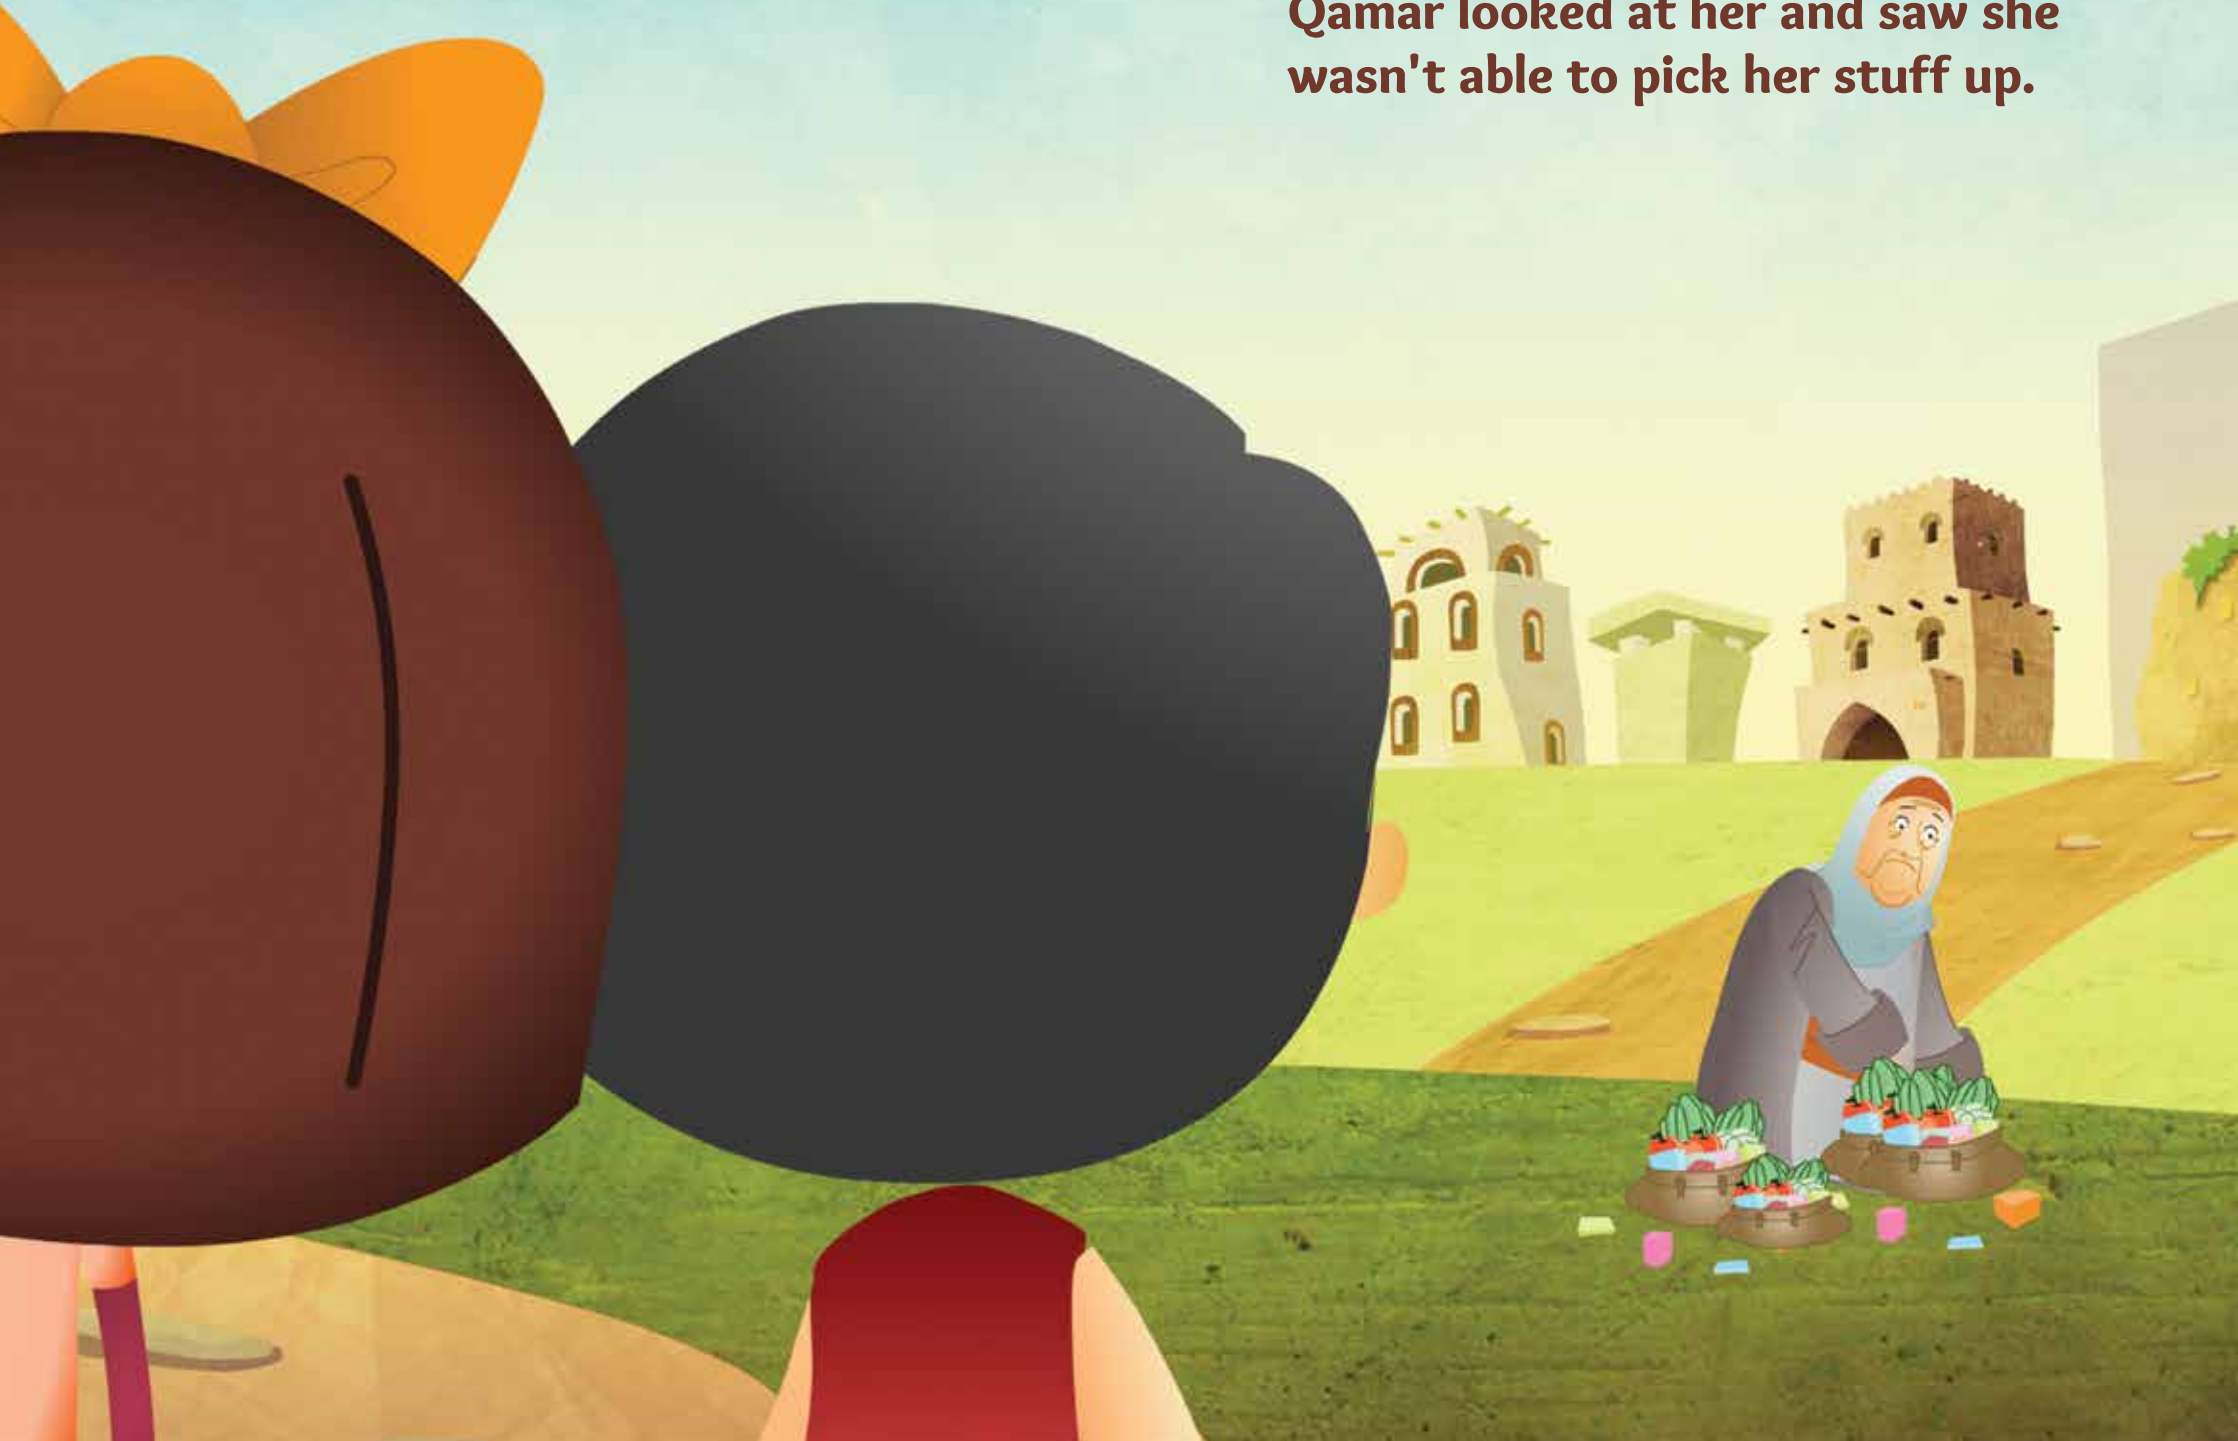

"We're getting closer", said Rami and Qamar smiled as it was their turn.

At that moment, an old lady carrying various bags passed by them and dropped her bags and all their contents on the floor.

Qamar looked at her and saw she wasn't able to pick her stuff up.

So she hesitated, she wanted to help the old lady but it was finally her turn to buy the ice-cream.

Maybe someone else would help her? Qamar wondered, but then decided to listen to her sweet heart, and when Rami saw her, he joined his sister and helped the old lady carry her bags until she got home.

"Thank you, my dears" said the old lady. "Do you like sweets?"

She then surprised them with a rainbow-colored cake!

Qamar couldn't believe her eyes as it was her favorite cake!

Qamar thanked the old lady for her gift and was very happy she helped her and enjoyed her sweet treat, which was more delicious than any ice-cream.
