Qamar & color ful balloons

It's drawing class, and Qamar is very happy
as she loves drawing.

When she sat at her desk, she carefully began arranging her colors and her book.

She counted her crayons and made sure she had all the colors to draw
a beautiful field with a rainbow.

Everyone started to draw, except for Sahar, who didn't have any crayons or book on her table.

Qamar looked at her and noticed that, so she asked what happened. "I forgot my book and colors at home Qamar".

Qamar thought a bit,
then gave her one page
of her drawing book and a few of her crayons, which made Sahar very happy and thankful for Qama's Generosity, and she started drawing.

Qamar's friends saw her, and each of them handed Sahar one of their Crayons. The little girl was overjoyed!

When Qamar went back to her table, she realized she wouldn't be able to draw her rainbow, as she now had missing colors.

What will she do?
She suddenly has
an idea:

she would draw beautiful colorful balloons. As soon as Qamar started drawing her balloons, a wonderful thing happened:

each time she finished drawing a balloon, it flew off the paper towards one of the students,

until the whole room was filled with colorful balloons, thanking Qamar and her friends for their generosity.
