Growing  Bigger Hearts™

Qamar & the little bird

Qamar was very happy, as she was on a trip
to nature with her mom, picking flowers and putting them in a basket.

While Qamar was wandering around, she heard a soft singing sound coming from afar.

She went closer and found a small bird that was away from his nest and his mom.

Qamar looked around trying to find the bird's mother
but didn't see her anywhere near.

Until she a nest up on a tree, and the bird's mom was flying next to it, looking for her little one.

Qamar looked at the little bird and wondered: what to do?

She has to help him! She carried the bird to put it back into the nest, but the branch was too high.

She immediately called her mother and asked for her help.

Qamar's mom lifted her daughter, who was carrying the bird with care and attention, high up, until she placed the bird back with his mom.

The little bird was very happy and felt safe to be back in the nest.

And the bird's mother spread her wings and started flying, happy to have her little bird back.

She flew over Qamar as if she was thanking her for her kindness.

Qamar's heart got filled with happiness as she helped the little bird,

while the mother bird filled the air with beautiful melodies, singing and chirping to thank Qamar and her mother for their help.
